A click away to becoming journalists

By Terence Payet, Mael Youpa, Justin Sims

A picture is worth a thousand words. The Victoria pathfinders with cameras playing paparazzi during our photography class is certainly worth a thousand words!

Nervous -and excited at the same timewrapped in the great sense of adventure filled the class on Sunday 27 March 2016.

The pathfinders learned that the type of shots matter. That is not about the camera, how you choose your shots to tell your story. The Trainer-graphic artist and photographer Ronny Marengo showed us how to use a camera and how to make different types of shots.

It was hard to understand the rules of photography but we were all eager to to be photo journalists so we asked questions. We did not hesitate to try taking different shots of each other.

"I see that they are very interested and really want to learn and I think it was a great challenge for me to teach them at this age, they are lucky to learn this at their age, I wish I was learning about the different shots at the age, I myself, learnt much later" Ronny said.

A morning well spent. We are now ready to be photojournalists. Mael, an eager pathfinder said that he found the class very interested and he enjoyed having fun with the camera.

"It is very important for us to become little Adventists journalists in the church and in the society," said Mael.

Ronny Marengo said with such enthusiasms he will be sure to come again.

"Next time I will teach them how to take photos when there are movements going on...we will throw balls and jump and take photos of these actions.. it will be fun!' said Ronny

Learning the art of writing

It takes a lot of discipline to be writers.

You need to find words to a paint picture to tell a story. As teenagers the task is even more difficult we are still discovering the world of words. We are still trying to discover how to identify ourselves in this world caught between children and adulthood, let alone express ourselves in print.

The class- was a hard one to grasp. But we learnt the rules- the five Ws and the H. We got to understand that the sentences need to be tight. Short. To the point, after all each word matters.

It will take us a while to get there but hey... we are still growing up and still got time!!

So we give ourselves a pat on the back for the effort.-The little journalists of the Victoria Pathfinder club!!

A visit in the underwater world

By Lara Seraphine, Ishra Ernesta, Chloe Payet, Eric Jacques and Shiela Louise

It was raining cats and dogs on the 09 April. . Like Sardines in a can- the 15 path- "The fishes are all about two years old finders at Victoria church packed in the teachers' cars. The task to get there seemed difficult. The Victoria Pathfinders were heading to the aquarium at Eden Island.

"Our aquarium is small compared to other aquariums in other places around the world-but what we pride of is that all our creatures in our tanks are alive- nothing artificial, our corals are real, our plants are real," Charles Savy owner of the aquarium said.

We were super excited as our guide Henry took us in an adventure in the underwater world. Little communities of real life corals, sea cucumbers, lion fishes in all shapes, colors and sizes living in the 33 tanks of the aquarium. It was thrilling to see little Nemos on their anemones.

We were super excited to see the great eels slithering in water like giant snakes.

and once they get too large for the aquarium they are taken back in the water," said Henry.

The tanks display creatures that teach us about the sea but it's good if they are taken back to the sea when they get too big for their tanks.

It was surely an electrifying visit and we look forward to going again, come rain or shine. We had an awesome experience!

"I loved the starfish!," said Sophie.

"My favourite were the sea cucumbers!," said Mael

"We learnt about how the fishes and corals live, things we did not know before!" said Chloe

Global Youth Week: Visit at Mont Royale

By Sophie Bouchereau

Part of being a Christian is going out to reach others in need and letting them know about the beautiful hope found in Jesus.

Sophie, Terence, Justin, Ishra and Tristen Joined the 45 youths for Global Youth Day- for an afternoon at Mont Royale.

Mont Royale is a detox centre that helps those who want to be free from the abuse of alcohol and drug addiction. Edson Tirant, Christopher Esparon, Andrew Alphonse, Nevil Desaubin and Ted Quatre welcomed our visits with open arms. They were happy to hear about the reassuring love and strength found in Jesus. Together we shared testimonies and participated in group activities.

Edson Quatre, 26, told the Victoria Pathfinder Club (VCP) that their favourite part of the visit was when they were given the chance to talk about the struggles.

"Never use drugs because you will lose everything you have and love," said Edson

Justin Sims, a pathfinder told VCP that he was touched by their experience and their desire to stop using these substances and get back to having a job.

"It was my favourite part of the visit, when we joined them in groups," said Justin

The pathfinders surely learnt valuable lessons from these experiences and will be praying for Edson, Christopher, Andrew, Nevil and Ted.

Cooking my favourite

By Justin Sims

Pancakes are a type of fluffy, soft flat bread or very simple cake. You can make it sweet or savoury. My favourite is the sweet ones. I love eating them with honey or jam!! Yummy!! I love to make them for my family.

You want to know how I make my pancakes?

This is what you'll need 2cups of flour

2 or 3 eggs

350 ml of milk

2 tablespoons of butter or sunflower oil

5 tablespoons of sugar

1/2 teaspoon of vanilla extract

A pinch of salt

Got your ingredients....Now you do this...

- 1 Combine flour, sugar, salt in a mixing bowl.
- 2. Add milk, oil, melting butter and vanilla.
- 3. Whisk together until just combined. You can do that in a blender or with a mixer. Sometimes I just beat with my hands....takes some effort but it gets it done
- 4. Heat large skillets over medium—high heat. Lightly grease with oil. Pour ½ cup of batter into the skillet for each pancake. (you might need help from your parent for this part)
- 5. Cook until bubbles appear on the surface. Flip with a spatula and cook until brown on the other side.

See.... it's pretty easy.....enjoy!!!

Mon verse prefere

It's a pleasure to bring you our newsletter. The hard work of the Victoria Pathfinder Club. It's were we tell you of our adventures. We are so very proud because we are the photojournalists and journalists that brought this together. We took the nice photos you see on the pages and wrote the words to tell the story. We got help from the teachers of course and from the Department of Communication and Education. Sr Fabienne helped us to write our stories -and a photography class with guest photographer Ronny Marengo who taught us how to take great pictures- and Sr. Rosana is our technical person- she helped with the layout.

We hope you enjoy our newsletter.
